Chromosomes in B Flat Major

What do genomes and a musical piece by Franz Schubert have in common? Both will be part of this year's Gordon Tomkins Memorial Lecture and Concert on Friday, October 21, from 3-5 p.m. in Cole Hall. A reception will follow at the Faculty/Alumni House from 5-7 p.m.

Sydney Brenner, director of the Medical Research Council's Molecular Genetics Unit, Cambridge, England, will discuss "Simple Thoughts on Complex Genomes," followed by the Francesco Trio playing Schubert's "Trio in B Flat Major."

Brenner was instrumental in formulating the concepts and methodologies underlying the molecular genetic analysis of gene expression. He established nearly 20 years ago an experimental system that today is one of the premiere tools to investigate the cell and molecular biology of development. Brenner most recently has turned his attention to understanding the evolution and organization of coding information in eukaryotic chromosomes.

The Francesco Trio has been described as "brilliant" by the NY Times, and as having "a combination of passion and intelligence" by the LA Times. Winner of the 1974 Walter W. Naumburg Chamber Music Award, this group is recognized as one of the finest chamber ensembles in the country. All three artists were members of the Old First Concerts in San Francisco.

Gordon Tomkins was professor and vice chair of the Department of Biochemistry and Biophysics from 1969 until his death in 1975. In addition to his scientific work in the study of hormone action, he was an accomplished classical and jazz musician.

It's Not Just a Cute Slogan

"One Campus ... UCSF—One Way ... United" is this year's theme for the UCSF United Way Campaign, October 31-November 11. It's not just a cute slogan.

According to Dean Jere Goyan, this year's United Way Campaign chair, it's meant to convey a strong feeling of what this campus is about. "We are one campus, united—united in support of UCSF and united in support of our community through United Way."

Goyan explains that as the campus develops new programs, constructs better patient facilities and provides additional classroom space, we are decentralizing. "Spread out at so many sites, we must make every effort to reach out to one another and maintain our unity as a family."

Anyone on this campus can vouch for the fact that UCSF is one energetic and enthusiastic place. And collectively, we make quite an impression. Goyan says, "I expect the

An Incubator for Our Latest Sister City

Slightly more than a year ago, three UCSF faculty members were part of a San Francisco delegation which made its way to the Ivory Coast to formally welcome Abidjan as our latest sister city. While there, School of Pharmacy researcher Nina Agabian, PhD, Richard Locksley, MD, and administrative psychiatric nurse Dorothy Franklin helped set up the medical, public health and hospital nursing aspects of the sister city arrangement.

Late last month, an Abidjan delegation traveled the skys to explore our City. And the three health professionals from the group visited our campus.

At a luncheon, co-sponsored by the Office of Public Service Programs and the SF/Abidjan Health Subcommittee, the three delegates were presented with an incubator for their hospital, which presently averages three infants to one incubator.

Following the luncheon, Locksley, who is chief of infectious diseases, gave the group informal tours of several laboratory facilities.

Know the Issues Before Nov. 8

Yes, it's an election year. And quite possibly a confusing one at that. As you read in the last issue of Newsbreak, soon you will find on your doorstep 350 pages of information on state and local issues, as well as a variety of flyers and leaflets from several folks looking to be SF supervisors. But the campus will help you sort through the paper.

First, let's address one of the propositions that directly affects UC. It's Proposition 78, which was put on the ballot with overwhelming bipartisan support of the Legislature and the backing of the Governor. It is a $600 million general obligation bond measure to fund specific public higher education facilities throughout the state. If approved, it will help construct and update classrooms, labs and libraries for UC, the CA State University System and CA Community Colleges.

Don't Dump Them! Recycle Them!

Thanks to Fred Carey, our campus is taking its first step to inaugurate a new recycling program—collecting all outdated Pacific Bell telephone directories. A postdoctoral fellow in the Laboratory of Radiobiology and Environmental Health, Fred wrote a letter to Chancellor Krevans in September suggesting the idea. And now it's a reality.

Here's how it works: During the next few weeks, as new PacBell directories become available, all departments are urged to place their old phone books in the corridor near their office doors. Physical Plant and the Med Center's Environmental Services are arranging for the custodial staff to collect the books during the evening and deliver them to a central recycling collection point.

A more comprehensive recycling program is planned for later this fall, involving recycling of all kinds of paper.

Call Physical Plant at x62021 for further information, and see future issues of Newsbreak for details on the total recycling program.

Kaplan, King Share Achievement Award

Selna Kaplan, MD, PhD, and Eileen B. King, MD, have been named co-recipients of the School of Medicine Women's Faculty Association's 1988 Career Achievement Award. Given annually to outstanding women faculty for achievement in health sciences, academic activities and humanitarian concerns, the award will be presented in conjunction with lectures by the recipients on Monday, October 24, from 3:30-5:30 p.m. in Cole Hall. A reception will follow at the Faculty/Alumni House.

Kaplan will discuss "Historical Perspectives on the Use of Human Growth Hormone for the Treatment of Short-Statured Children"; King, "My Walden Pond."

Kaplan, professor of pediatrics, joined the campus in 1966 as director of the Pediatric Endocrinology Unit, and presently serves as associate director of the Pediatric Clinical Research Center. She has been a leading researcher on the effects of hormones on growth and maturation, on growth disorders and their treatment, and developmental endocrinology.

King has made crucial contributions through her research in cytology, premalignant disease and breast cancer epidemiology. Her studies have defined the presence of abnormal breast fluid as a marker for the beginning stages of breast cancer. A member of the UCSF faculty since 1955 and clinical professor since 1979, King initiated the move to bring the Laboratory of Cell Analysis to UCSF.

Science Education Program Kickoff Oct. 25

Interested in science education? Especially in the public school system? The Science Education Partnership (SEP) program offers an opportunity for faculty and graduate students to get involved with science and health education in San Francisco middle and high schools. Sponsored by UCSF in cooperation with the SF Unified School District, the project makes campus resources available to schools by matching teachers with campus personnel according to mutual areas of study and interest.

This year's SEP activities will begin with a kickoff on Tuesday, October 25, at 4 p.m. at the Faculty/Alumni House. At the reception you'll be able to meet local teachers involved in the program, review last year's activities and discuss what will be happening this year.

If you plan to attend, call David States at x64132 or King Kryger at x62218.

Join Med Center Picnic Oct. 22

If you enter the "Run for Health" on Saturday, October 22, you also are invited to the Medical Center Picnic. See page 8 for details.

ACS Award for "Smoke-Free" Campus

Janet Norton, director of institutional relations (left), last week received the major award from the SF Unit of the American Cancer Society for orchestrating UCSF's campaign for a "smoke-free" campus. The annual award is given to an organization that makes an outstanding contribution to cancer control in San Francisco. According to Janet, the entire campus is to be congratulated because "it was the cooperative effort of over 11,000 people that made the campaign a success." With Janet is Dora Mustacchi, outgoing president of the SF Unit of the ACS.

Baylor Medical Dean is Sooy Lecturer Nov. 1

Bobby R. Alford, MD, dean of medicine at Baylor College of Medicine, Houston, will discuss "Challenges of Academic Medical Practice in the US" as the Third Francis A. Sooy Lecturer on Tuesday, November 1, at 4 p.m. in Toland Hall.

Alford has had a distinguished career at Baylor for some 30 years. He was appointed to the Olga K. Wiess Chair of Otorhinolaryngology in 1967, became vice president and dean for Academic and Clinical Affairs in 1980, and now serves as executive vice president and dean for the entire medical school.

The lecture honors the memory of Francis A. Sooy, MD, our chancellor from 1972-82, who served as chair of the UCSF Department of Otolaryngology from 1958-72. He died in 1986.

Campus Blood Drive Oct. 18, at CED Oct. 21

The next campus blood drive will be held on Tuesday, October 18. There will be only one blood donation site, the lobby of the School of Nursing building, due to the Millberry Union renovation. Extended hours for donating will be from 7:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m.

You may donate at your convenience or make an appointment by calling x64013. Please bring personal ID.

Blood donation raffle prizes—a pair of gift certificates for $50 each to the Washington Square Bar & Grill—are donated by ASUCSF and the restaurant.

Alumni associations of the Schools of Dentistry, Medicine and Pharmacy will stage contests among classes of students, with cash prizes being awarded to classes that donate the most blood. The School of Nursing Alumni Association will conduct a similar contest among administrative divisions of the school.

For the first time ever, there will be a blood donation day at CED on Friday, October 21, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. in the Hartsook Room on the first floor. Employees should call x60739 for an appointment.

The campus blood drive on April 26 yielded 217 units of blood, according to the Irwin Memorial Blood Bank, sponsor of the drive, coordinated by the Campus Tours/ Speakers Bureau.

campus will take the lead in this very worthwhile community effort."

Each of the four schools and several administrative units are planning some great activities to further encourage employees to donate. Most of the events involve raffles, raffles and more raffles.

The deans, directors and department chairs of the Schools of Dentistry and Pharmacy are donating terrific items to be raffled off at two separate parties on Friday, November 11. (A list of prizes hasn't come Newsbreak's way as yet, but we do know there is a $100 Nordstrom's gift certificate just waiting for some lucky dental employee.)

The School of Medicine once again is planning to raffle off a $2,000 cash prize to the determined department which has a 50% or better participation rate.

The medical school also is planning a bake sale. Organizers haven't quite yet decided on a date (tentatively October 31), but they do know that all proceeds will benefit the AIDS Crisis Fund of the United Way.

The School of Nursing promises that they will give two special gifts—one to a staff employee, the other to a faculty member—who participate in the campaign. Will it be another raffle? You guessed it.

Make sure to turn to page 7 to see what the Medical Center has planned.

At the time of this writing, it was rumored in the corridors of UCSF that the School of Pharmacy would again declare "war" on the Medical Center to "even try to take away their victorious championship captured last year." More details on this fearless battle to follow in the next issue of Newsbreak.

Care to Help with the King Commemoration?

Here you see members of the Martin Luther King committee at their first meeting to plan for the week-long commemoration coming up in January. Now they're looking for people to help plan the events and displays, work out logistics, do the publicity and help with hospitality during the week. If they can count on you to participate in one or more of these areas, call Paul Porter at x68724.

Don Abrams Begins Second Set of AIDS Awareness Lectures

Many physicians who care for AIDS patients describe their work as stimulating. They say they have learned compassion and understanding. But, they also describe their frustration and their feelings of inadequacy and despair. The fourth in a series of five lectures during "AIDS Awareness Month" will touch on just that: "AIDS Burnout." The final lecture will discuss safe sex. Details follow:

• Tuesday, October 18, at 5 p.m. in HSW 303:

Donald Abrams, MD, associate clinical professor of medicine and the Cancer Research Institute, will discuss "AIDS Related Burnout." The lecture is based on a presentation he made before the Fourth International AIDS Conference in Stockholm in July.

Co-director of AIDS Activities at SFGH, Abrams began seeing patients with AIDS in 1981 when he was just finishing his UCSF residency in oncology. He initiated and directs the Community Consortium on AIDS, composed of Bay Area physicians who are involved with AIDS care and research. He is a member of the scientific advisory committee of the American Foundation for AIDS Research and a consultant to the World Health Organization's Programs on AIDS.

• Tuesday, October 25, at noon in HSW 300:

Clinical psychologist Bernie Zilbergeld, PhD, will discuss how important it is for physicians and patients alike to learn how to negotiate smarter and safer sex. Former co-director for the UCSF Human Sexuality Program's clinical training, Zilbergeld is the author of the book Male Sexuality, and co-producer of a 55-minute audiotape called "How to Talk to a Partner About Smart Sex."

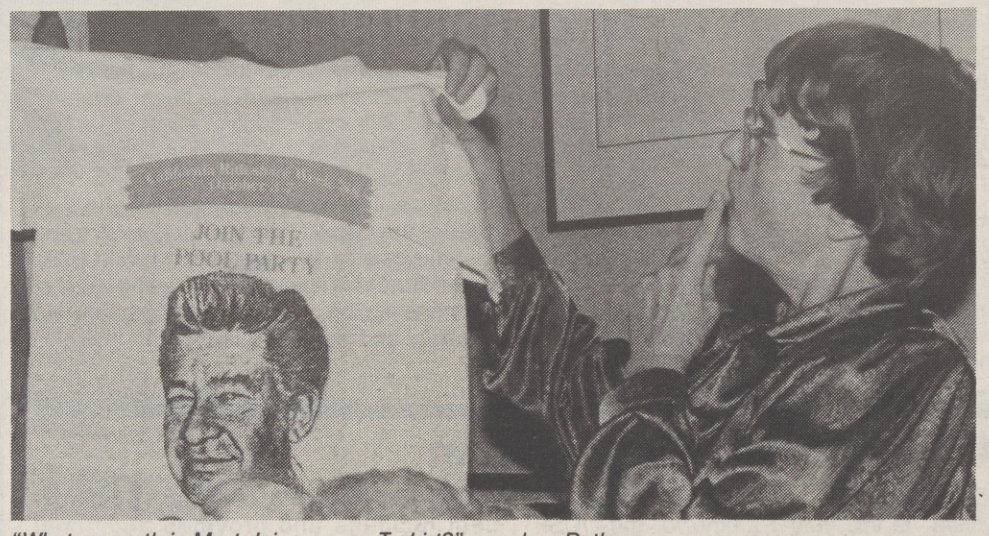
Medical School #1

The School of Medicine received more National Institutes of Health grant money in 1987 than any other medical school in the country. It marked the 12th consecutive year that the School has held that distinction.

The School received more than $102 million from the NIH in 1987. Johns Hopkins, Yale, Stanford and Columbia, respectively, rounded out the 1987 top five medical schools receiving NIH dollars.

Our campus as a whole received more than $117 million in grants from the NIH in 1987. UCSF ranked second, behind only Johns Hopkins.

Around the World 10 Times . . . in a Van



"What on earth is Mert doing on my T-shirt?" wonders Ruth.

It was "California Pool Party Day" on October 6, and to celebrate, UCSF vanpool pioneers John "Mert" Bali and Ruth Moore were honored, respectively, as the vanpool driver and the vanpool rider with the most miles.

John, a senior museum scientist in pathology, has been the driver of the Montara van since September '75, logging nearly 125,000 miles. Ruth, an administrative assistant in family & community medicine, has been cruising the roads in the San Mateo van for a whopping 135,000 miles. Together they have traveled one-quarter of a million miles.

Bruce Spaulding, vice chancellor, business & fiscal services, presented the two with $100 gift certificates to the store of their choice, a great plaque and a California Pool Party T-shirt.

The UCSF vanpool program was spearheaded by Jim Wood, transportation manager, in 1975 with two 12-passenger vans. It now boasts 37 vans transporting some 500 passengers a day from as far as Los Altos, Newark, Vacaville, Concord and Petaluma.

• Don't Forget "Candidates Forums" Oct. 17, 24

Fourteen of the leading hopefuls in the SF Board of Supervisors race will be on campus for two "candidates forums" on Mondays, October 17 and 24, noon to 1 p.m. in Cole Hall.

On October 17: Mark Buell, Terence Hallinan, Michael Hardeman, Tom Hsieh (incumbent), Willie Kennedy (incumbent), Harriet Ross and Jane Winslow.

On October 24: Angela Alioto, Harry Britt (incumbent), Lee Dolson, Jim Gonzalez (incumbent), Bruce Lilienthal, Pat Norman, Carol Ruth Silver (incumbent).

• Don't Forget "Prop Marketplace" Oct. 28

To further help you get through the muddle, the Office of Public Service Programs will hold a "Proposition Marketplace" on Friday, October 28, from 11 am. to 2 p.m. in the Millberry Union west lounge. Organizations supporting and opposing the initiatives will be here to pass out materials.

• Don't Forget Nov. 2 Debate on Car Insurance Props

Those confusing car insurance initiatives hopefully will become a little clearer after a debate on Wednesday, November 2, from noon to 2 p.m. in Cole Hall. Sponsored by the Graduate Students' Association, the debate will feature representatives for Propositions 100, 101, 103 and 104.

Russell is Regents Lecturer

National science and medical reporter Cristine Russell will be on campus Wednesday, November 2, as a UC Regents Lecturer. She will present a campuswide lecture on "Risk Versus Reality: Challenges in Reaching the Public" at 3 p.m. in Cole Hall.

Russell, who is an Alicia Patterson Fellow on leave from the Washington Post, will discuss the challenges in communicating to the public what really is a health risk and what is just part of a "Chicken Little" syndrome. The public is bombarded with all sorts of "scare stories" linking the way we eat, live, work and play with an array of known and possible health hazards. With so many alarms being sounded, it's hard to know what to really worry about.

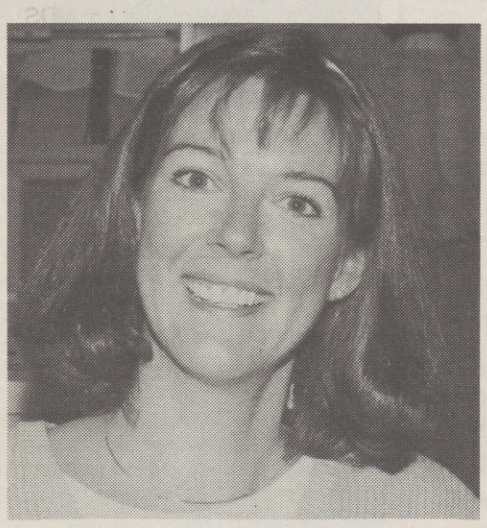
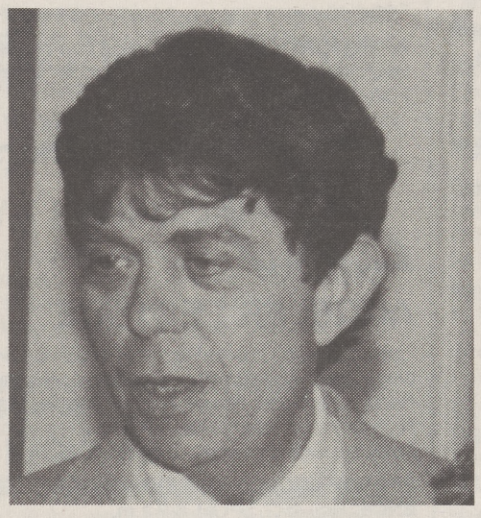
Honors & Awards



Cynthia A. Holmes, doctoral candidate, health psychology: One of three student winners in the Population & Environment Division, American Psychological Association competition for her paper "Motivation for Pregnancy in Adolescent Women: Evaluation of a Belief Questionnaire and a Story Completion Task."

James E. Pointer, assistant clinical professor, medicine: Appointed the first full-time emergency medical director for the SF Department of Public Health.

Nicholas L. Petrakis, professor, preventive medicine; chair, epidemiology & international health: Invited speaker at the international "Oestrogen & The Human Breast" symposium in Edinburgh, Sept. 22-24.



Samuel H. Barondes, chair, psychiatry; director, LPPI: Appointed to the Extramural Science Advisory Board, National Institute of Mental Health.

In Memoriam

Michael D. Okerlund. Joining the UCSF faculty as an assistant clinical professor of medicine in 1973, he began a nuclear endocrinology practice at UCSF in 1974 and managed a thyroid clinic treating patients from all over the world. He joined the Department of Radiology as assistant clinical professor in 1975, and after 1976 held the title of assistant professor of radiology and medicine in residence.

Kathy M. Lenihan, head nurse, Neuro-Intensive Care Unit & Adult Emergency Transport; acting head nurse, Cardiovascular Special Care Unit: Awarded an American Heart Association medal for "meritorious service in the fight against heart disease."

Appointments

Sheila A. Mahoney, director of administration, Department of Medicine. She comes to UCSF from the University of Rochester's Strong Memorial Hospital where she had been associate director for patient services since 1985. From 1982 to 1985 she served as administrative director for the department of medicine at Cornell University Hospital & Medical Center.

Take a Byte Out of a New Apple

For the first time ever the UCSF Computer Center Classroom in Room U 66 has Macintosh computers—12 SE-20s to be exact. And, for the first time ever, this facility now is open to the campus community during evenings and weekends.

"We've always had our adjacent 'user room' open 24 hours a day, with a few Macs, 6 IBM-PC2s and printers," explains Bruce Stegner, assistant director of the Computer Center. "But now, the campus community also can use the Computer Classroom during evenings and weekends. And that now has 12 brand new Macs added to the existing 12 IBM-PCs, as well as 2 laser printers."

All of you Mac users out there will be happy to know that each Apple will have "Microsoft Word" word processing software. And soon the Computer Center hopes to make available spreadsheet and graphics software.

The new hours: Besides being open weekdays, 9 a.m.-5 p.m., the Computer Center Classroom now is open evenings until 9 p.m. and weekends 9 a.m.-9 p.m. But, "If people need more time, we can reschedule, say until midnight if we have to," says Bruce.

Now for the cost: The use of the Computer Classroom is essentially free for UCSF students, according to Bruce. The University has what is called Instructional Use of Computing funds (IUC), which allows students to use the facilities for course work. Faculty who teach classes also get to use IUC funds.

For others the price is $5 per hour during the day, $3 per hour during the evenings and weekends. For laser printing: The price has dropped from 50¢ a page to 25¢. IUC funds allow each UCSF student $100 worth of printing a year.

If you're concerned about personal safety during the off hours: Closed-circuit TVs have been installed and there are two hidden "panic buttons." ID is required to enter the facilities during these new hours.

But, before you can use these facilities, you first need to open an account with the Computer Center. Just call Paula Garcia at x64573 or drop by Room U 64, Monday to Thursday, 9:30 a.m.-5:30 p.m. (until 5 p.m. on Fridays). It will take about a day to process your application.

See future issues of Newsbreak for more great news from the Computer Center, including a new fiber-optic communications network coming in November and free access to Medline for all faculty members.

New National Science Foundation Fellow

Rosemarie Lara from Iowa City, Iowa, is our latest National Science Foundation Minority Fellow. Born in Hawaii, she graduated this year from the University of Iowa with a BS in biomedical engineering.

She is part of the UCSF/UC-Berkeley Bioengineering Program and, as she says, "for the moment interested in cardiology or other imaging or signal processing."

Over the past five years, six other UCSF students have been awarded these highly competitive NSF awards, including Enrique Amaya (cell biology) and Peter Quesada (bioengineering), who still are completing their fellowships.

These graduate study awards pay $12,300 per year over three years and $6,000 per year to the host institution to help cover tuition and fees.

Attacking Tumor Cells with "Atomic Bombs"

Campus researchers are attacking tumor cells with tiny "atomic bombs" in a distinctive but still experimental form of cancer therapy.

The "bombs" are boron atoms, which naturally explode when triggered by radiation in the form of very low energy neutrons. UCSF organic chemist Stephen B. Kahl, PhD, reported in late September at the national meeting of the American Chemical Society in Los Angeles a new way of packaging boron so it concentrates primarily inside tumor cells, thus avoiding damage to healthy tissue when it "explodes."

Kahl's boron compound has proven four times more effective at killing cells in culture than two other boron compounds now used in cancer therapy in Japan, says Kahl.

In further tests, he and his colleagues at Brookhaven National Laboratories on Long Island have injected mice with boron compound and irradiated them with slow neutrons. Though the therapy's effectiveness at halting tumor growth has not yet been determined, Kahl says the preliminary results are very promising for future human therapy.

Working with Kahl at UCSF are postdoctoral fellow Myoung-Seo Koo and medical student Laurie Jarvis.

Sing-along Concert for Children Oct. 29

The UCSF Exchange, a group of spouses of UCSF interns and residents, is sponsoring a sing-along concert for children on Saturday, October 29, from 3:30-5 p.m. at St. Paul's Presbyterian Church on Judah and 43rd Avenue. All proceeds from the event will benefit the UCSF Department of Pediatrics.

This musical affair will have a Halloween theme, with songs orchestrated by Chris Cahill and Christine Keller, both music teachers in the Richmond District. There will be free helium balloons, raffle prizes and great Halloween treats. Children (and adults!) are urged to wear costumes.

Admission is $5 for adults, children $4. Advance family tickets are available at $12 each; $14 at the door. Parents are encouraged to bring pillows or mats to sit on. For tickets and further information call Carrie Johnson at 566-6162 or Ferne Langer at 731-9503.

New Service for Long Distance Calls

National Telephone Service Operators will begin handling all operated-assisted calls originating from our campus beginning Monday, October 24. That means that from now on you can charge long distance calls on your Pacific Bell and AT&T calling cards as well as American Express, Mastercharge and Visa. To reach a long distance operator dial 9 then 0. For further information campus employees should call Andy Pearson, x66936; Med Center employees, Marty Gustafson, x65050.

Benefits/Personnel

November is Open Enrollment Month: Many Changes In Store

Look for the open enrollment mailings you'll be getting soon! You'll find one package from the Office of the President in your home mail, and another from the UCSF benefits office in your campus mail.

This material will tell you all about the many changes in store for 1989, both in eligibility for UC-sponsored health and welfare benefits, and within the benefits plans themselves.

For instance:

- Maxicare will be terminated. Employees enrolled in Maxicare will need to select another plan.
- Co-payments for all the health plans except Kaiser will increase. (This doesn't mean premiums. It applies to charges for prescription drugs, mental health care, emergency care, etc.)
- The dental and optical alternative to insurance will be discontinued.

According to Mary Kahn from the UCSF benefits' office, some of the changes have been mandated by Congress (for instance, the discontinuation of the dental and optical alternatives), while others reflect UC's attempt to develop and maintain the best possible benefits package given legal and financial restraints.

Because of the impact of these changes on your personal coverage, she suggests that in addition to reading the material, you should plan to attend one of the meetings covering all aspects of 1989 open enrollment:

- Friday, November 4: Noon to 1:30 p.m. in Cole Hall.
- Wednesday, November 9: Noon to 1:30 in Cole Hall
- Wednesday, November 9: 5 to 6:30 p.m., Toland Hall
- Friday, November 18: Noon to 1:30, Cole Hall
- CED and SFGH meetings will be announced in the October 29 issue of Newsbreak.

In addition, there will be two meetings featuring representatives from each of the medical plans. At these times, the representatives will describe their plans and be available for individual questions:

- Monday, November 7, Cole Hall:
  11:30 to noon, informal session
  Noon to 1 p.m., presentations
  1 to 2 p.m., informal session
- Friday, November 11, CED Hartsook Room: Repeat of above.

How are the Funds Performing?

For those invested in the additional savings programs, here are the latest unit values and monthly factors (as of August 31):

- Accumulation Unit Values

Equity Fund: $48.51 (-2.4%)* (-20.45%)
Bond Fund: $31.42 (0.7%)* (8.36%)

- Monthly Factors

Savings Fund: .0073 (9.08%)
Money Market Fund: .0064 (8.01%)
GIC Fund: .0074 (9.26%)

*Percentages represent change in unit value from previous month.

Percentages represent total percentage increase over previous 12-month period.

Percentages represent the most recent returns expressed as an annualized rate. The money market and savings rates change monthly.

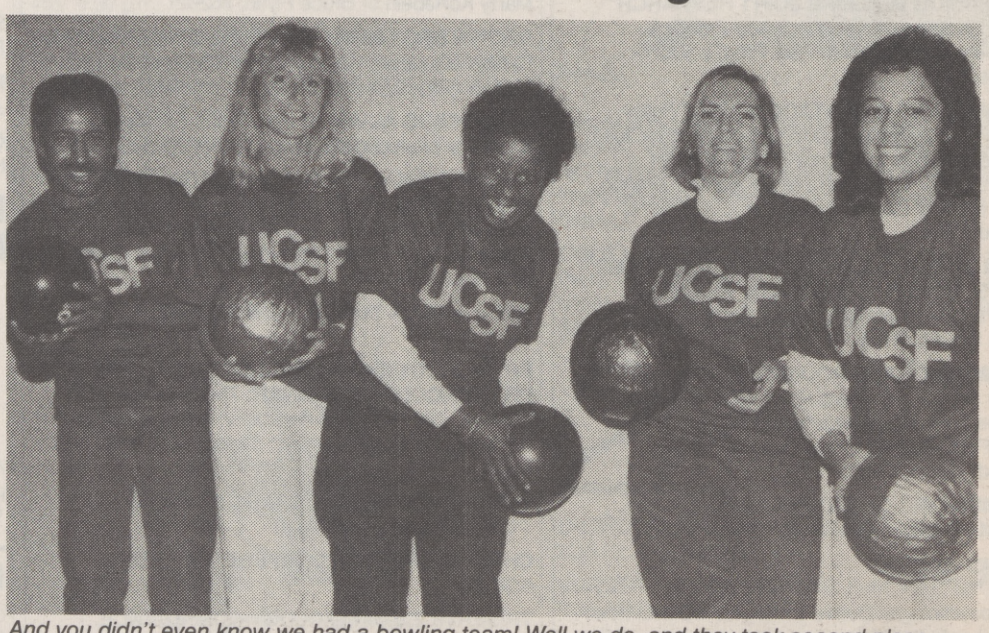
EMPACT!

Get Out Your Pumpkin-Carving Tools

Here comes the big Halloween bash sponsored by EMPACT! and PRO Recreation. This year's event will take place Halloween day, Monday, October 31, in Saunders Court at noon. Come eat hot dogs and dance in your bare feet to "Zulu Spear." And do not fail to enter the costume and pumpkin-carving contests! There are fame and great prizes to be won, including two nights' lodging at Inn by the Lake in South Lake Tahoe, donated by "Ask Mr. Foster" Trave!. You can enter the carving contest by department or by individual—pick up your entry form at the MU Central desk. Free pumpkins on Thursday and Friday, October 27 and 28, for the first 30 to sign up. Look for flyers with more information.

- Sign up for the tennis tournament and potluck. It's a great way to meet people who like to do what you do. The mixed doubles will be on Saturday, October 29, and singles on Friday, November 4. Call x66932 to sign up. EMPACT! will set you up with a partner if you need one.
- Don't get left behind by the Reno Gamblers Express! This one-day bus trip to Reno on Saturday, November 5, costs $33, and you get back $34 in various coupons. The bus leaves at 8 a.m. Saturday morning, gets to Reno about 1 p.m., and leaves for home again at midnight. Sign up by Friday, October 21, at the MU Central Desk.
- Nutcracker tickets almost sold out. Excellent dress circle seats at either Oakland's Paramount Theater (Saturday, December 17, evening performance, or Sunday, December 18 matinee), or the San Francisco Opera House (Wednesday, December 21, matinee or evening performance). Purchase by November 15 for early bird price of $22. Use order form on the back of your "Action Line" newsletter, or call x66932.
- Don't forget the 15% discount at You See Flowers through October 31. This good deal is brought to you by new owners Julie and Laurie Ott. (Show your EMPACT! newsletter for discount.)
- The EMPACT! hotline is x66900. Dial that extension for information on all EMPACT! services and upcoming events. (EMPACT! coordinator Laura Barney is at x66932.)

UCSF Takes Second in Bowling Tournament



And you didn't even know we had a bowling team! Well we do, and they took second place in the Japantown Bowl summer Hotel/Industrial League competition. They are: (left to right) Pierce Henry, materiel management at SFGH; Jean Reimer, Emergency Transport Services; Shirley Hamilton, SFGH neurosurgery; Faith Allen, SFGH neurology; and Doris Masferrer, Dean's Office, School of Medicine, SFGH. In addition to finishing second, Pierce, Jean and Doris also took first place in individual categories. The team's efforts were helped along by EMPACT! which picked up the registration fees.

If you wanted to see Helga, you had to be there: No cameras allowed at the exhibit. But here's a glimpse of the grand gala that accompanied the Auxiliary's private showing of the Wyeth collection. About 400 people, including three dozen or so volunteers from the Medical Center staff, came, saw, ate, drank and were merry.

Perhaps the Scooter Sisters Were Just a Little Too Racy for United Way

That's not their fault. They were railroaded into it by Medsounds, that racy publication. Meanwhile, the Med Center United Way committee has come up with a fine theme for the '88 campaign, "That's What Friends Are For," and a whole bunch more prizes for the raffle drawing. (And meanwhile the Scooter Sisters, bless their racy hearts, are holding to their offer to accompany their winner on a pleasure ride around town. With helmets.)

Here's the list of prizes to date:

- Handmade teddy bear from Rufus Battles
- Ski weekend from Kathy O'Brien
- Guided tour of the Pacific Stock Exchange from Duane Brown
- Day of maid service from Karen Akerson
- Dinner anywhere you want in SF from Helen Ripple
- Two nights at Point Reyes Seashore Lodge from Bill Kerr
- Case of mixed vintage wine from Jackie Kuhn
- Two tickets to SF Opera from Richard Roginski
- Hour of horseback riding lessons from Marty Gustafson
- Ten passes to the movies from Kirby Maples
- Packed picnic basket from Patty Perry
- Personal computer lessons from Ron Schumacher
- Two tickets to Palo Alto Theater Works from Duffy Price
- Auntie Pasta gift certificate from Charles Taylor
- Crabtree & Evelyn gift basket from Wayne Taylor
- Four dozen chocolate chip cookies from Susan Semonoff
- Danish cookbook from Leona Hansen-Nealey
- Homemade cheesecake from Bob Rush
- Two bottles of wine from Eric Saltmarsh

The way you become eligible to win one of these or many other prizes to come is to make a donation to United Way during this year's campaign, October 31 to November 11. The drawing will take place as part of a Med Center United Way wrap-up party on Friday afternoon, November 11 (more details on that later). Meanwhile, check next issue of Medsounds for the updated prize list. (If you want to donate a prize, call Elaine Shanahan, x66659, Gemma Rieser, x64846, or Star Deppe, x65716.)

Don't Forget! Next Week is Infection Control Week at the Med Center

If you remember from last issue, our infection control staff has many activities planned for National Infection Control Week, Monday through Friday, October 17-21. Check the flyers posted around the Medical Center for the exact times for all events, or call x60640.

On Monday, there will be asepsis ("without germs") demonstrations in the ACC Surgery Center every 30 minutes, 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. Drop-ins okay, but reservations preferred at x60640.

Monday through Friday there will be continuous showings of several short films in L 192 (near the Emergency entrance at the back of the patio), including films on AIDS, hepatitis B prevention and vaccination, asepsis in surgery, and Universal Precautions. You're welcome to bring your lunch. All the popcorn you can eat will be provided.

Also Monday through Friday, next door in L 191, there will be displays, equipment and information on exposure prevention, safety in the workplace, universal precautions, body substance isolation, unusual infections and so forth.

Monday through Wednesday, inservices in body substance isolation (BSI) will be offered at several times.

Meet Karen Wilson from Patient Accounts

Karen had the extraordinary distinction of being the 250th person to arrive at the CED party hosted by the Med Center management staff last week. There are about that many Med Center employees at CED. Apparently just about everybody showed up for this noontime feast of flautas and other finger foods.

What was the occasion? Some of the associate directors got together and decided it was time to create some opportunities to bridge the gap between Parnassus and Folsom Street. Thus, numerous acquaintances were made between members of the management staff on Parnassus—including many representatives from nursing—and the finance, HISD and Planning and Marketing employees based at CED.

Maybe You'll Get Flowers One of These Days

Shortly after chaplain intern Dick Burtschi arrived at the Medical Center a few months ago, he began making frequent stops at You See Flowers to buy bouquets for patients or staff members in need of a little cheer.

When new owners Julie and Laurie Ott found out his purpose, they told him if he'd stop by on Friday afternoons, they'd give him flowers. The cut flowers would go bad over the weekend anyway. They'd gladly make the donation to the chaplain service for their kind gestures.

Since then, the chaplains have had a heyday every Friday, cheering up a patient here, brightening the day for a stressed staff member there. This past Friday, when Dick arrived in the Emergency Department with an armful of flowers, the staff decreed that Ann Gallagher should get a stem or two. It was her birthday, she was getting married in a week, and she'd just been promoted to Administrative Nurse I.

Imagine Having Your Favorite Recipe on the Moffitt Cafeteria Menu

Here's your chance to establish yourself in the UCSF Medical Center Cooking Hall of Fame. Submit the recipe for your favorite entree to Nutrition and Dietetics, and it could end up on the menu. It will even be named after you, if that's how you want it. (On the entry form, there's a space for naming your recipe.)

If you enter a recipe before Wednesday, November 30, you'll get a coupon for 15% off on your next purchase in the Moffitt cafeteria or Lunch-to-Go room. Pick up your entry form in the Moffitt cafeteria or call x61461, and they'll mail one to you. Return the form to the box in the cafeteria or send to "Recipe Search," Nutrition and Dietetics, Box 0212.

New Med Center "Inn at the Beach" Officially Launched

"One of the things we hear again and again from out-of-town patients and families is that the first thing that worries them about coming to the Medical Center is not the stay in the hospital. They worry about driving in San Francisco, finding a place to stay—especially something reasonable—and finding a place to park. The new lodging solves all these problems."

This comment from Admitting's Nancy Cohen, the manager for the new UCSF Medical Center Patient and Family Lodging, gives you the basic reason the Med Center has leased 24 units at the Great Highway Motor Inn and turned them into low-cost lodging for patients and families.

The situation before was that people had limited options for lodging: There were some cramped quarters on 10 Moffitt or in guest houses around UCSF. Normally this meant no kitchens, no phone, limited parking, and sharing bathrooms.

The guest rooms and suites at the new "Inn at the Beach" are freshly renovated, can accommodate up to seven people, have big kitchens, free phones (including UCSF direct-dial phones), are very reasonable, have plenty of free parking, are right on transportation lines, and an hourly shuttle takes guests back and forth to the Medical Center. Furthermore, it's right next to the park and right at the beach. Very nice.

The Lodging first opened in August, before all the rooms actually were finished. When the entire project was completed this month, the Admitting Department staged a big open house, followed by a party for the many people who took part in putting the new program together.

The ribbon-cutting included several people who played a big role in the project: Admitting's Joanne Pehkonen and Great Highway Motor Inn owner Romano Surian (cutting ribbon), Nancy Cohen (behind Joanne), Building Management's Bob Busby (far right) and Administration's Ron Lipsy (behind Bob). Key people not pictured: Former associate director Dennis Brimhall, Building Management's Kirby Maples, Resource Management's Mary Evelyn Altman. (Don't forget Environmental Services, Transport, Telecommunications, Nutrition & Dietetics and other helpful departments!)

Jan Davies of Redding (center), whose husband had a liver transplant, became the first guest when she stayed at the Lodging in August. The notebook she's holding is the legacy she left: During her stay she recorded her thoughts, comments and many helpful hints—where to get good pizza in the neighborhood, where to buy stamps, etc.—and left the book so future guests could learn from it and then add their own comments. Further, she suggested a notebook be left in every room for this purpose. With Jan are (clockwise from bottom left) admitting staff members Isabel Talay, Nancy Cohen, Pauline Gallardo and Evelyn Lee.

All the Answers to Your Picnic Questions

If you are planning to attend the bigger-and-better-than-ever Med Center family picnic next Saturday, October 22, you probably have a few questions. If you don't find the answers here, stand by. Everyone who signed up to attend will be getting an information package and ID buttons any day now.

● Where is it? Same location as last year: Speedway Meadows in Golden Gate Park. That's east of the Polo Fields, not far from Stow Lake. The above-mentioned information package contains a map showing you exactly where it is.

● What should you bring? Bring your ID buttons! You and all your guests must wear one. These are your tickets for food and drink. If you haven't received your personal supply by Wednesday the 19th, talk to your supervisor.

Other things to bring: A blanket, kites and frisbees, your appetite, $6 if you want to buy a T-shirt.

● There will be T-shirts for sale at the picnic? Yes, yes. Of course, all the volunteers get a sprightly yellow T-shirt to wear at the picnic and then keep forever. But you can also buy T-shirts—not the yellow ones, but equally nice turquoise shirts with a picnic logo, in adult sizes. Look on the map in your information package for the location of the T-shirt booth.

● Will there be a shuttle service like last year? Yes. A shuttle will leave from Moffitt Circle every 15 minutes, from 11 a.m. to 2:15 p.m. From 2:30 on, it will run every half hour. Last shuttle headed for the picnic: 5:30 p.m. Last pick-up from Speedway Meadows headed for the Medical Center: 5:45 p.m.

● What if you work that day? Hopefully, you can hop on the shuttle and get there for a little while, anyway. If that won't work out with your work schedule, the recompense is that you will get a free lunch or dinner in the Moffitt cafeteria. Coupons for this will be distributed in your department.

● Anything special you need to know as a volunteer? By now, everyone who volunteered to help should have received all the information on what to do the day of the picnic. If for some reason you did not, call volunteer coordinator Joan Guerra right away at x62230.

What's there to do at the picnic? Many things for all ages:

- 10 a.m.: "Run for Health" (see adjacent article)
- 11 a.m.: Picnic begins
- Noon: Softball semi-finals; finals at 3 p.m.
- 1 p.m.: Volleyball semi-finals; finals at 4 p.m.
- Noon to 4 p.m.: Checkers tournament
- 1 to 4 p.m.: Children's carnival—beanbag toss, knock-over-the-milk-bottle, tick-tack-toe, ring toss
- 1 p.m.: Cheez Family Players
- 2 p.m.: Magic Steve the Magician
- 2 to 4 p.m.: Relay races—three-legged race/carry-a-walnut-with-a-spoon race
- 3 p.m.: Puppet show
- 4 p.m.: Dan Goldenson (folk singer)
- All day: Horseshoes, jump rope, kick ball, kites and balloons
- All day: Mariachi band and clowns
- All day: Food and drink (barbecue ends at 5 p.m.)
- All day: First aid/lost and found
- 5:30 p.m.: Raffle drawing
- 7 p.m.: Good night

● How do you know where to go for all these activities? The information package you'll be getting not only contains a schedule of events to bring along, but a map showing where everything is.

"Run for Health" and Come to the Picnic

Since the "Run for Health" is open to the whole campus and takes place right before the Med Center picnic at the same location, it only seems fitting that all those campus people who take part should also be invited to the picnic. So they are. Your entry bib will be your ID for food and drink.

Now that you know this, you want more details, yes?

Okay: "Run for Health" is a 5K run and walk on Saturday, October 22, beginning at 10 a.m. at Speedway Meadows in Golden Gate Park. Next Wednesday, October 19, is the deadline to pre-register. You can pick up a registration form in Nursing Administration in L.171, or at the MU Central Desk. (You also can late register from 8:30 to 9:30 a.m. on the day of the race, but it will cost you $10 instead of $8.)

There will be prizes awarded in several categories for both runners and walkers, with gift certificates from "On the Run" for all the first place winners in all categories, and more fine prizes for second and third place winners. Call Elaine Shanahan, x66659, if you have questions.

They'd Give the Shirts Off Their Backs for a Few Good Volunteers

These are members of the Children and Family Health Fair Committee, and the truth is, they need more than a few volunteers. They need a lot of volunteers to help with the fair on Saturday, November 5. The tasks range from directing traffic (crowds, not cars) to dressing up as circus characters. And yes, you will indeed get one of these fine shirts to add to your UCSF T-shirt collection if you help out. Call Sylvie Khajenoori at x65377 or Volunteer Services at x61196.

Flash!

Saturday's Director's Cup preliminaries produced the following: In the softball semi-finals at the picnic, the Mavericks (Med Center managers) will play Med Center Administration; and Environmental Services will play Nutrition & Dietetics.

In volleyball, ACC Administration will play GM IV, and Medical Records will play Nutrition & Dietetics. See above for times.

Surveys Due

If you haven't returned the employee recognition opinion survey, please note that the committee in charge of these programs ("Meet the Director," Perfect Attendance, et al.) is really counting on your response. Today, October 14, is the day they're supposed to be in. Please dig it out, finish it and return it right away. If you didn't get one, talk to your supervisor or call Gemma Rieser, x64846.

For Bored Patients

If you know any patients in need of a little diversion, ask them if they're interested in seeing a movie or having a volunteer stop by with the craft cart. If the answer is "Yes," call Sharon Udovich in Volunteer Services at x61196 to make the arrangements.
